

This transcript was exported on Dec 07, 2021 - view latest version here.

Dr. Zachary Hodgins:

So some of the things that patients with sleep apnea might be experiencing right now would be decreased levels of concentration, excessive daytime sleepiness, just general changes in mood, just in a bad mood all the time. Some of the things their spouses might be experiencing as well, might be the same things because that snoring and sleep apnea, can have a deleterious effect on your spouse as well.